Lazy Days of Summer

No matter how the time was spent —— working or soaking up some rays —— most students agree that summer always seems to end too quickly.

By Colleen MacCurtain

Whether you are going to the beach, going away on vacation, or just hanging around home, summertime is a student's favorite time of year. "There are no deadlines to meet, no classes in the A.M. and no big responsibilities. You can walk around barefoot and go fishing or swimming. Girls are wearing bikinis —— and school is the furthest thing from my mind," explains Mike Bolinder.

Nantasket Beach is a hot spot for W-H beachgoers. "I like going to the beach all day with a group of friends and then meeting up again later that night to go out," says Julie Baglole.

Some students traveled out of state and some went as far as Bermuda and Italy. For those who stay home, there were plenty of local attractions visited: Boston, the Cape, Canobie Lake Park, museums, Blue Hills, and N.E. Dragway to mention a few.

A Night To Remember
"Through The Years"

By Jeannine Pittsley & Jen Wessling

On May 24, 1991 the junior class finally got to look back "Through the Years" at our Junior Prom. The class danced and laughed at the Canoe Club in East Bridgewater. Jen Clearly commented, "It was a night I'll never forget, especially seeing Cathy White put her hoop on in the parklot!"

Upon entering the Canoe Club were boxes of photographs collected over the years of members of the class. "It was one of the best times because everyone got along," said Julie Baglole.

After our pictures were taken and our chicken dinner was eaten, we danced all night!

After the prom, most people headed for the beach.

According to Jacqui Eide, "It was a night to remember just because it was our Junior Prom."

Friends for a Lifetime

Whether just friends or boyfriend and girlfriend, seniors have made many lasting and memorable relationships in the last four years at Whitman-Hanson.

By Kim Christensen

How would you define true friendship? Perhaps loyalty, respect and generosity come to mind. According to Mike Healey, "A true friend is someone I feel comfortable enough to tell anything to and know they won't tell anyone else."

Pamela Norkus describes, "A true friend is there when you really need them. They stay by your side in a time of crisis and help you through rough times."

"I can tell if someone is a friend when I can be in the worst mood ever and they will still put up with me and understand," explains Sherri Holden. "Also, when I can talk about personal problems and they really listen to what I'm saying."

"A friend is someone you always have fun with and likes you fro who you are without trying to change you," explains Jen Wessling.

Who do you consider to be your best friend and why?

"Carrie Jefferson because she's always been there for me, and I know she always will. I also know that our friendship is just as important to her as it is to me."
-Jeannine Pittsley

"I don't really have a best friend. I hang out with a gang of friends: Sean Ready, Bob Egan, Rick Fratus, Greg Martin, Mike Jansky. We hang out a lot on weekends, shooting pool and partying."
-Dave Larsen

"Michelle O'Donnell is my best friend because I can tell her anything, and she can keep it a secret. She's also understanding and sympathetic. She cares about me as a person."
-Colleen Howard

Caught In The Act!

Although most of us have been known to act a little goofy now and then when alone with our friends, only a few of us get to be witnessed by all . . .

By Sara Murphy & Crystal Sullivan

Occasionally, students have been known to take a turn towards the mischievous, pulling pranks and practical jokes on one another. Mike Bolinder remembers, "Once I took a bunch of Republican election signs and put them in the yard of a Democrat."

Most students have probably been grounded at one time or another — usually for such offenses as talking back to parents, denting the car, having a party, or staying out too late. But there are times when the crime seems questionable. Some seniors have been known to be grounded for such offenses as feeding the dog roast beef, staying up all night, breathing on your sister, having the wrong expression on your face, and chipping of your fingernail polish?!

So, be careful or you may end up missing out on some more fun.

The Great Escape

Whether on a date with that special someone or just hanging at home with your friends, everyone loves the weekend.

By Danielle Stoltz & Crystal Sullivan

No matter how they are spent, weekends offer a much needed break from the everyday rigors of school. "In addition to seeing my girlfriend, I like to play a lot of basketball, and I always seem to be out looking for a job," says Jarrod Ortega.

"I mostly like to go out driving around with my friends," expressed Carole Carey.

Heather Howland adds, "I like going to football games and going out with George."

Dennis Ryan says, "I like listening to music and writing."

Many people date on the weekends with different ideas and expectations about the perfect date. According to Anna Burgo, "Getting all dressed up, going out to eat, and being alone with someone in a quiet place would be my idea of a perfect night."

Money Talks

With the economy in its present state, money always seems to be tight—jobs are scarce and prices are higher.

By Kristin Erickson

How much did you say that costs? The cost of living is constantly on the rise. With parents not always willing to donate the funds we need, students must find other sources of income. Some babysit or mow lawns while others have part time jobs. "I work 20-25 hours a week at Shaws," explains Colleen Howard. "I'd rather be working there than not at all."

Most students find spending money much easier than earning it (and more fun too!). The idea of owning your own car sounds great, but consider the costs—gas, insurance, maintenance, car payments. "My car is a real gas guzzler, so I spend about $20 a week just on gas," says Ryan Weaver.

Buying clothes, haircuts, accessories, etc. can take an even greater bite out of the wallet. "I pay about $13 for a haircut and $80 for a perm," describes Kim Christensen.

A Day in the Life

Of A Whitman-Hanson Student

By Ryan Weaver

It's 7:26 A.M. and the bell for homeroom has just rung. After Adam Mitchell reads the morning announcements, Channel One brings us the news of the day. Then, we're off. If we're lucky we have cafe study early in the day in order to get some breakfast. Every forty-three minutes students must brave the crowded hallways crawling with such perils as slow freshmen, groups of socializers blocking the hall, and football players who have forgotten that they are not out on the field. At 2:00 P.M. the day's perils are over, unless of course you need extra help, belong to a club, or have two more hours of team practice ahead of you.

A student's life can be very chaotic at times from the stress of balancing a heavy load between classes, sports, clubs, jobs, and homework. Students must put in long days, and often times, long nights to stay caught up. "I spend up to twelve hours in one day at school sometimes," explains Mike Williams.

If you could be principal for a day, what would you change?

"I'd change the time we start school."

Getting Around

Whether driving a car of your own or riding with friends, most students prefer riding in a car over taking the bus.

By Shawn Towne

Transportation is a necessity to one and all. For students, however, getting around on our own also represents a certain sense of freedom and independence. John Dickinson describes, "I like being able to go a far distance and I like not having to worry about calling for rides."

The day each of us gets our license is usually a memorable one. No longer will we need to ask for rides from one place to another. Unless fortunate enough to have our own car, we will probably still need to ask for the car keys.

"The most embarrassing times," explains Jen Dameron, "were when my mother had to drive my boyfriend and I to a movie or to parties."

Making the Grade

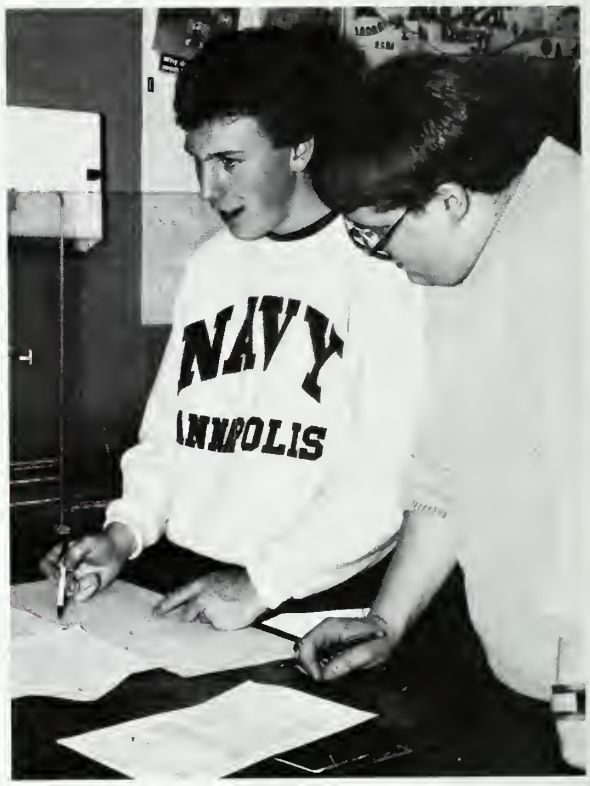
By Kristin Erickson

Some people spend hours studying for tests and doing homework while others spend no time at all. Derek Neilson explains, "I spend about one and a half hours per week studying each subject and about five hours per week on homework."

Aimee Coburn confesses, "I spend anywhere from a half hour studying to not studying at all."

That dreaded remark, "Clear everything off your desks," may make some people sweat more than others, since some come to class prepared and others can not even remember to bring a pencil.

In a student opinion poll conducted last October, Science was voted the favorite subject by both senior boys and girls, followed by Math, Social Studies, and English. Most students feel, however, that any course can be enjoyable if the teacher is inspiring and interesting.



Do you think dissection in science labs is necessary?

"We should have to because it is essential to the understanding of biological functions in various organisms."
— Brian Balsis

"I think dissection is helping us to understand more about the anatomy of animals, but I don't think we should be forced to dissect if we don't want to. I'd dissect a worm, but that's about it."
— Aimee Coburn

"Dissection helps us to understand more about animals and insects. I have dissected and would do it again. It's no big deal, but nobody should be required to if they feel they can't."
— Stacie Lane

Creativity Is the Key

By Kelli LaGrange

Many students are attracted to a break from the lecture oriented academic courses for a chance to develop some creative talents. "the thing that attracted me to art class," explains Bridget Roppolo, "is that the atmosphere is more social than in a regular classroom which helps me work better."

There are many art and music students who are really serious about their skills and are working towards future goals. Karen Holland explains, "Before I began taking art classes, I didn't know what I wanted to do. Now I have decided to go to art school and pursue a career in commercial art, possibly in Graphic Design or Photography."

Occasionally, one interest leads to another. Band member John Dickinson describes how his interest got established, "I took piano lessons for three years and then started playing the baritone horn in elementary school. I continued from there learning the tuba and trombone."

Creative activities also offer some additional benefits Dennis Ryan says, "Theatre Arts has helped me with my shyness. I feel more open now."

Hands-On Training

By Kerryn Snyder

Many students choose to take advantage of the elective program the school offers in such subjects as food preparation, construction, banking, radio broadcasting, typing, and retailing. Some students take the courses because they intend to pursue a career in one of the fields offered. "I might want to be a bank teller to put myself through college," explains Cheryl Sharland.

Other students take the courses simply to broaden their skills and personal experience. Robyn Spillane explains, "I took Foods because I just wanted to learn how to cook."

As a whole, students taking occupational electives thought highly of their courses. "If there were such a thing as a perfect class," declares Jim Catton, "typing with Mr. Lorenzo would be the one! The course is 100%."

Getting Physical

By Anna Burgo

Doesn't everyone love going to gym class? We get changed, go play a game, get sweaty, then have to put our school clothes back on again — all in 46 minutes!

To a few students, Phys. Ed. is their favorite class of the day, while many others have been known to resort to all sorts of tactics to get excused for the day. Chris Coakley confesses, "Sometimes I use the excuse that I hurt my ankle the night before playing basketball which usually works pretty well."

Jack Bueler admits, "I just held on to my chest saying I had pains than went down to the clinic for the rest of the period."

Although Dodgeball, Slaughterball, Floor Hockey and Volleyball are enjoyed by many, circuit training and running the mile are not going to be missed by many seniors.

What is your favorite thing to do in gym class?

"I like playing basketball because it's my favorite sport."
— Jarrod Ortega

"I like slaughterball, because I like to hit people with the ball."
— George Connolly

"I like floor hockey because it's aggressive and fun, and I like archery because it's different and we get candy if we hit the bullseye."
— Denise Gould

"My favorite thing to play in gym is floor hockey — but I wish no one had to sit out and wait to play."
— Carole Carey

"I like volleyball because it's exciting, especially when you get a good volley going."

NEW FACES

Starting high school is a scary experience for many Freshmen. To make Freshmen feel more comfortable, the senior class traditionally sponsors the Freshman-Senior Banquet. This event was held this year on October 3, 1991. Many games such as "Dr. Tangle"; "If You Love Me, Baby, Smile"; and "Pass the Orange", along with great food all contribute to a great evening for all.

Below: The banquet is so much fun, the Freshmen can't stand it anymore.

NEW FACES

GUESS WHO?

This year Whitman-Hanson's annual Halloween Dress-up Day proved to be one of the best yet. Costumes ranged from John Dickinson's courageous display of femininity to "Roberto" Angeli's Mexican attire. It was definitely an unforgettable day!

LOOK AGAIN

The second annual Powder Puff game was held on November 26, 1991. The junior girls put up an excellent fight against the senior girls, but in the end, the seniors were declared the champions. The male cheerleaders were there in full force supporting their respective teams. Jeff Smith gave a professional account of the game throughout the evening. After the game, everyone warmed themselves by the roaring fire.

LET'S GET PUMPED

On November 27, 1991, Whitman-Hanson gathered together to cheer on the football team and "pump up" the school spirit. The Senior girls put on their skit "Football Tryouts" poking fun at the senior football players. The band played a rousing rendition of "Tequila," while the cheerleaders performed their energetic routines. The rally not only inspired the football players but united our classes as well.

ALL DRESSED UP

The Junior class and the Senior class celebrated the holiday season with the annual Semi-Formal Dance. This dance is held in the school's cafeteria. In a joint effort various Juniors and Seniors combined their creative ideas and decorated the commonplace cafeteria; thereby, transforming it into a beautiful place that would be the site where many everlasting memories would be formed. The night was filled with smiling faces, glistening eyes, excellent music, beautiful dresses, handsome suits, and most of all good friends.

Sign O' The Times

"For Just a Moment" let's look back at our "Glory Days." The days that are "Unbelievable" and worth remembering "Always."

Freshman year was about to start. We had to say goodbye to those "Endless Summer Nights," and now we were the "New Kids on the Block." We had to "Take a Walk on the Wildside" joining clubs and sports. We all got to "Celebrate" our first spirit week. We all remember Hall Decorating, decorating our doors and Panthers ride the wave. "Every Little Step" into the year we got more involved and "We've Only Just Begun."

"Summertime" has just ended for the second time and now we're "Bad" sophomores. We went through the "Joy and Pain" of Hall Decorating and a Panther for all seasons. Panther Football had "The Power" to let Holliston know "U Can't Touch This" in the '89 Superbowl . . . "We are the Champions . . ." 41-8, Holiston "Eat It." Also the '90 Competition Cheerleaders rocked on the bus to "Candy Girl" as they took second place in the All New England Open Championship at Springfield College.

Freshman year we were introduced to those infamous W-H dances where we rocked to "Rock Lobster" and "Wild Thing." The seniors would "Shout," "Shut Up and Groove," and hop on the "Party Train." We moved to the "Wild Wild West" and learned the "Electric Slide" and how to "Vogue." While we were "Dancing with Myself" we learned "What I Like About You."

By 10:30 you felt that need to "Push It" and "Express Yourself." Even by senior year we were still "Faithfully" grooving to "Mony Mony." The dances have shown us that "People are Strange" but "Nothing's Shocking."

Now as cool jerk juniors we were "Riding Around in Our Automobiles" and our "Parents Just Don't Understand." We thought they should have "Faith" because we were "True Blue." Looking forward to the semi, it was "A Real Wild One." During this time, the girls varsity basketball team felt that "This Is It" and got "In the Mood" to "Pump Up the Jam" ending their '90-'91 season with a record of 21-2!

"There's No Business Like Show Business" as our class got involved in Bye-Bye Birdie, Scrooge, and West Side Story. The girls demanded "Respect" "Under the Sea" in the '90 Variety Show, on the other hand the boys were "Staying Alive" with "Do Me" and "Ice-Ice Baby" in the '91 Lip Sync and Jeanette and Kristen reminded us that "We'll Be Together."

The year went by "Rush Rush" and now was our Junior Prom. "Through the Years" we had been looking forward to May 24, 1991 at the Canoe Club and "Out of the Blue" it was here. "Tonight" the "Pleasure Principle" was to "Get Funky!"

Senior year was finally upon us. There were many decisions to make, "Where Do I Go From Here?" was the question, but we'd "Promise to Try" and "Keep it Together." Sooner than we thought, our four years were "Vanishing" and we were "Praying for Time." We thought "There's Got to be a Way" after all those years of feeling like a "Prisoner." We knew we were "Waiting for That Day" on June 6, 1992.

As we are "Moving Out" of our senior year the Varsity "Boys to Men" soccer team and the Varsity "We Are Women Hear Us Roar" soccer team made it into the '91 Tournament. Also the mighty Panther Football team had an 8-3 record. Let's not forget cross country "Running like the Wind" into the states.

Our class has many good memories, "Friends and Lovers" to "Cherish" forever. "These Are the Times" and our "Unforgettable" moments together because "Friends are Friends Forever." You know "You've got a Friend" when they're always there when "You've Lost that Lovin' Feeling." "That's What Friends are For," right? "Never say Goodbye" to these memories, special moments, and of course all the friends you've made in these four years at Whitman-Hanson.

"Thank you very much" to all of our parents and teachers, especially Mr. Davis and Mrs. McCann for all their help and support. It is "More Then Words" can say. "I Won't Forget You, Babe."

Sincerely,
Jeannine Pittsley

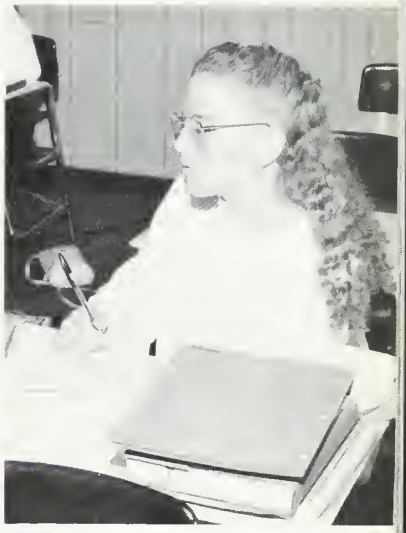
WRESTLING



Do You Remember When. . .

Mr. Goslin was a gym teacher?
We all flushed the toilets at the same time to get out of school early?
Burger King was the coolest hangout?
We had plans to go to Disney World for the Jr. Prom?
We had bomb scares every day?
People only pierced their ears?
Sitting in the last seat of the bus was cool?
Everyone was late because of the "tone"?
We wished we were seniors?
Recess was the most important part of the school day?
Scott Ramsey crashed his plane?
Joe Devine didn't eat lunch?
You were in Mrs. Allan's freshman year health class?
Everyone had braces?
You weren't allowed in cars & had to ask your parents for rides?
People you knew went to Saudi?
The "Deans" was the "A. P.'s"?
Roberta was quiet?
Bridget had her original hair color?
Everyone feathered or teased their hair?
Winning wasn't so hard?
We didn't know what "panther pride" was?
Sully was shy?
Mr. Bonaparte sang at the talent show?
We participated fully in gym class?
Clogs were in style?

Roaring with Spirit

Our 1st year, typical freshmen were we,
Admiring the seniors, one day we would be.
Support, leadership, and help we were lacking;
The elder classes looked down simply laughing.

Sophomore year, new friends we have met;
Unity we have, spirit- not yet.
High school's half over; what to do now?
We will be the leaders, and we know just how.

Now upperclassmen, our class spirit intact,
We know what to do; we know how to act.
Together we stand- never to fall;
The best year yet- we had it all.

REFLECTIONS

OF A SOPHOMORE "SHAKESPEARE"

As I steppeth between thine Walls,
And walketh down familiar halls,
I looketh back to days gone past,
And dreameth of until mine last.

From mine first, so scared and small,
Striveth hard to learn it all,
As mine second comes and goes,
I learneth better thine to's and fro's.

Two more years followeth this,
Thinketh not of what we miss,
But at thine sights seen with thine eyes,
To sharpen senses, maketh thineself wise.

Many days will cometh and flee,
It may seemeth an eternity,
But worketh hard, we try our best,
And study hard for mine next test.

I writeth this from mine heart,
For mine class, we shalt not part,
We helpeth through our toughest times,
As a freshman in grade nine.

To the present, they have aided,
Problems cometh, they help abate it,
I prayeth they be here for ever more,
As we passeth through yonder door,
Into life as women and men
We striveth to be such a friend.

If times seemeth hard to bear,
Know the pain lessen if shared,
Friends are here to help you through,
Talketh, they'll know what to do.

As this cometh to an end,
Remember those who are thine friends.

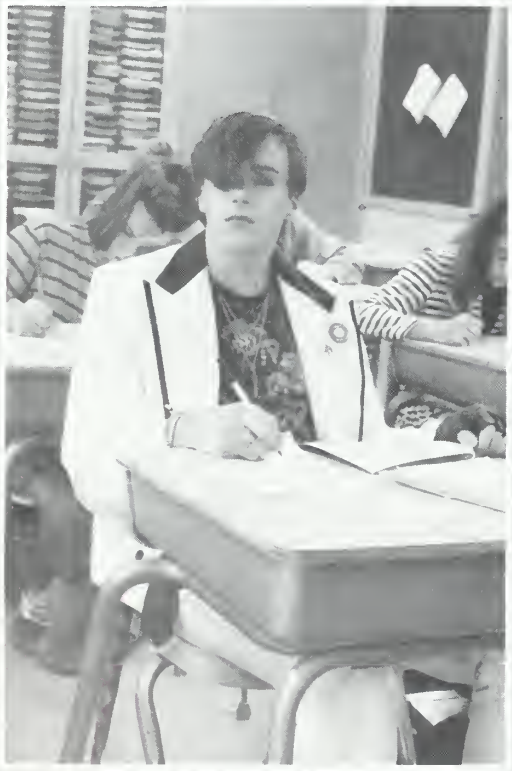
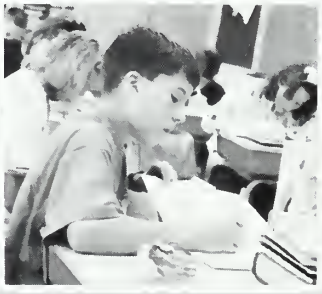
LASTING MEMORIES

Academic . . . Athletic . . . Extra-Curricular . . . Intellectual



"My favorite memory of high school so far is being accepted. By this I mean finally meeting a group of people that understand me. Finally being thought of for what I am, instead of for what I am not. This is a feeling that warms a cold heart."

Lee Mansfield



"A lasting memory of high school so far is the soccer double sessions the week before school started."

Dean Kelliher

"A lasting memory of high school for me has been the finishing of Great Expectations."

Eric Hobin

"My favorite memory of high school is probably just fitting into the puzzle picture of high school life."

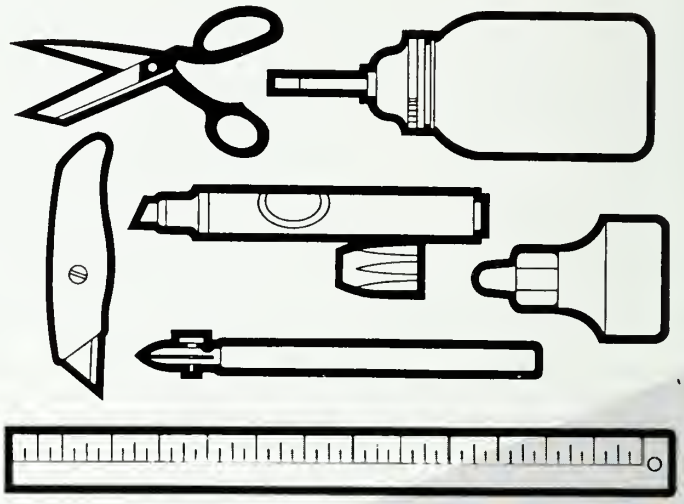
Perfection In The Making



Both the business and layout staffs of the '92 Yearbook kept busy throughout the school year to produce a successful, well-rounded book with all the desired effects. To achieve this goal, it required many days after school and dedication to the end.

Headed by Mrs. Bergquist, the business staff mainly concentrated on collecting the advertisements that economically make the yearbook possible, creating an underclassmen section, and selling the finished product.

Under the direction of Mrs. Valeri, this year's first time ever Yearbook Production class was responsible for designing the theme, layout, and overall production for the rest of the book. This class added a creative touch that aimed to catch the reader's eye through its well-planned layouts, captions, and write-ups. Students were introduced to basic desktop publishing by producing layouts on the Macintosh computer.

Also utilizing the Macintosh system, W-H New Panther newspaper is produced entirely on the computer, led by adviser, Mr. Delaney and editor, Amanda Thomson.

WE'VE GOT THE BEAT

Friday night Football games came alive as the Whitman-Hanson marching band took to the field. The brilliant flags of the colorguard and the twirling batons of the majorettes both added to the already festive atmosphere. The leaders of this wild bunch were drum majors John Dickinson, Michelle Trotta, and Susan Anderson. After grueling Wednesday practices, the band was in prime form and helped liven up the already enthusiastic crowds. During the spring they will compete in the Music In the Parks festival at Hershey Park, Pennsylvania. Here they will compete against other high school bands throughout the U.S.

The Sound Of Music

The sound of music rang throughout the auditorium as the musical division of Whitman-Hanson displayed their talents by performing for both the Senior citizens and the student body. These concerts psyched the audience up for the oncoming holiday frenzy and helped the band to rehearse for their seasonal routine. However, this musically gifted bunch also use their talents for competitive purposes. Throughout the past year, the Concert and Jazz bands have taken part in various competitions and Jazz festivals. They are also planning to attend the Music in the Parks festival, held in Pennsylvania this spring. The chorus and show choir have plans in the works for an exchange concert with another group in New York. All of these groups work together to create productions that are enjoyable to both the participants and their audiences.

THE TRUTH OF THE MATTER

To participate in Student Government at Whitman-Hanson you must have a good attitude and a dedication with a creative touch to make any even successful. The members work together as a team to coordinate such activities as dress-up days and dances, as well as sponsoring the beneficial blood drive and charitable Senior Citizen Christmas luncheon.

Peers Reaching Out To Children Today, otherwise known as PROTECT, is one of the schoolwide organizations promoting education through the leadership of students. Each member must go through 31 hours of training which helps them prepare skits they will perform on various social problems.

The Key Club is a very service oriented club at Whitman-Hanson. The members work hand and hand with the communities of Whitman and Hanson. Throughout the past year they have supported the soldiers over in the Gulf and conducted a compatibility test throughout the school.

Spanning The Globe

Student Environmental Awareness Club, also known as SEAC, meets every Thursday to discuss upcoming events. Together, with the help of adviser Mr. Bonaparte, they plan such activities as the talent show held each spring and the sale of banana-grams as fundraisers. They also participate in the adopt-a-child program and are taking steps to help save the rainforests. The Recycling club, directed by Ms. Gordon, works together every Thursday. They primarily work at collecting the recyclable papers from the SEAC boxes located in almost every room. Cooperatively, the two clubs are trying to make our environment better for future generations.

Pablo Derqui-Melendo

Hometown:

I live in the capital of Spain, Madrid. Madrid has a lot of habitants approximately 4 million. The weather in Madrid is in the summer, warm, and in the winter, cold, but not as cold as here.

High School:

I go to a private school where I have no choice of my courses I have some courses I like: Gym and Art. The school in Spain is tougher than here. In my school, sports aren't as important as they are in the U.S. We only play basketball, soccer, and sometimes tennis. The days in school are longer than they are here. For example, during the day I go to school at nine-thirty and leave at six-thirty I don't have as much free time after school, but other than that the schools are almost the same.

Weekend:

The weekend is one of the most different things between here and Spain. One reason is the drinking age, in Spain it's sixteen. Every weekend the young people go outside to the disco and to the pubs to dance or listen to music. The driving age in Spain is eighteen but if you are younger you can drive a motorcycle, like in my case.

Javier Pardo-Naya

Hometown:

I was born in Madrid on the sixteenth of September, 1974. I now ve in the northwest of Spain, in a city of about 400,000 inhabitants called La Coruna.

High School:

I go to a private Jesuit school in Spain, somewhat like B.C. High in Boston. In general, school is very different and much more difficult in Spain. We start at 9 o'clock and finish at 4:20. We also have a different schedule everyday of the week, unlike here where it's kind of boring. We can't choose our own subjects until eleventh grade, but we have language, science, math (including Algebra, Geometry, and Calculus all together), and a second language each year. In my school, we have to wear uniforms until eighth grade and our seniors are allowed to smoke in a special area of the school. When I return to Spain I will go to college in Codiz, south Spain, to study Marine Biology.

Weekend:

The way to have fun in Spain is much different from here. There is no drinking age and when we go to bars, clubs, and discos, we usually stay out all night. To get a drivers license you have to be 18, but people in high school are allowed to drive motorcycles.

OUR FOREIGN EXCHANGE STUDENTS

Valeska Davila

Hometown:

I am from Guatamala City, Guatamala, Central America. It's small and tropical with about four million inhabitants. The weather in Guatamala is about 70-80 degrees all year long. The seasons here are really different, but I love the snow.

Highschool:

The school year runs different in the U.S. than in Guatamala. School starts in January and finishes in October. Summer vacation begins in November. I have already graduated from high school and was attending a small, girls only, secretarial school. It was from 7:30 a.m. to 10:00 a.m. There was no lunch, but a half hour snack break. The popular sports in Guatamala are soccer and basketball.

Weekend:

On the weekends, there aren't any school dances, but there are dance clubs. This way more than one school can attend. These dances run from 9:00 p.m. until 1 to 2:00 a.m. The drinking age is really different from the United States'. There isn't really a set age. Until you are 18, it's up to your parents as to whether or not you drink. The driving age in Guatamala in 18, but you can get your driver's permit at age 16. As for the boys, the one's in the U.S. are cuter, but they're nicer back home.

Breda Flynn

Hometown:

I am from Mullingar, Co. Westmeath, Ireland. I am 17 years old and have a sister and two brothers.

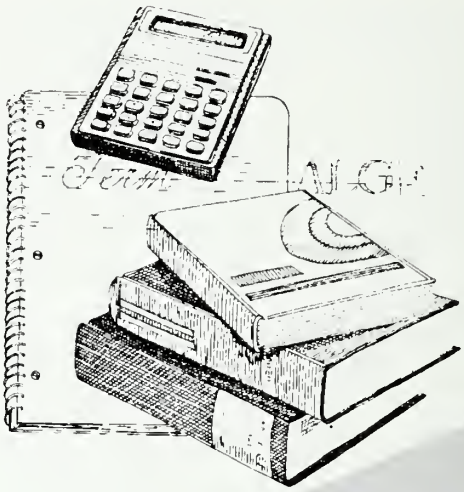
School:

School back at home is much, much harder. We get a lot more homework, and it's a lot stricter. It begins in September and the day runs from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. with an hour break from 1 to 2. We don't have any school dances, but there is a prom at the end of our Senior year. I am planning to attend college, and have been offered a scholarship to Concordier college in New York.

Weekends:

On the weekends in Ireland, we usually go to the discos. The drinking age is 18. At age 17 you can get your previsional license (permit), but most people don't start driving until they are 19 or 20 because the insurance costs are very high and all of our cars are standard. There is no difference between the guys here and at home. Although I do think that relationships are a lot more serious here. This may be because of the different social habits.

BEYOND THE BOOKS



For those interested in the intellectual aspects of extra-curricular activities, Math club and History club are two groups to be involved in.

If one has a fascination with and an ability to solve mathematical equations, Mr. Souther and his math team are the people you want to be with. Just like any other activity, Math club participates in statewide meets and their competitive force has allowed them to enjoy a successful year.

History club, under the direction of Mrs. Adelsberger, also joins various competitions. Framingham State College sponsors an annual historical writing conference in which junior and senior students, as well as a few underclassmen, submit papers to be judged which often gain them college recognition. The club also had an enjoyable and educational field trip to Sturbridge Village.

The National Honor Society, on the other hand, isn't something you can simply join. At the beginning of each school year, new members are inducted who accell academically. During the Christmas season the members spent time together caroling for the citizens of Whitman and Hanson. In the month of January, they helped raise funds for the American Heart Association through a successful phone-a-thon. With the help of Mr. Belden, Honor Society is a great inentive to the hard workers of the student body.

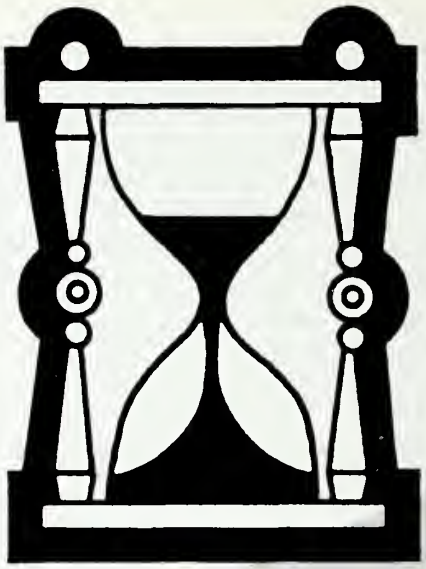
Great Expectations



DECA and WHRC are two clubs at Whitman-Hanson that are directly preparing students to step out into the real world. Skills are attained that will help these members to acquire jobs in the field they have chosen to pursue a career in. Those students who have already put themselves one step above by making this important career decision will hopefully gain the extra edge needed to be successful in life.

DECA members take retailing which helps them to learn the fundamentals of business such as buying and selling. Each individual needs a good attitude to successfully get along with peers while working in the same store they help to run throughout the year.

WHRC members also take classes in which they achieve the abilities needed to operate the radio room almost on their own. They participate in radio broadcasting and each individual learns the specified skills involved with production.

Achieving Our Goal

Girls Soccer

This 17-3-1 season was the most successful ever by breaking 9 records both individually and teamwise. The girls made it to the sectional semi-finals, allowing only one goal in tournament play. Not only was this season the most successful, it was also the most enjoyable.

Getting A Kick Out Of Life

Boys Soccer

The varsity boys soccer team, lead by tri-captains, Brian Desantes, Brian Ayre, and Brian Farrell, finished the season with a 10-7-2 record. For only the second time in panther history, this year's team qualified for the state tournament. Though several of the players had injuries from last year, and some received new ones during the season, panther pride, rugged determination, and a liberal dose of athletic tape kept all of the players from missing more than one game. With 12 of the 19 players graduating, there will be a tough job for Mr. Barrington. The job will be made easier by talent returning from last year as well as young talent coming up from the ranks of the J.V. team.

Above: Though the defense put up an impressive wall, it wasn't perfect, but Kevin Seger was able to stop most of the shots that did get through.

Miles Ahead

Girls & Boys Cross Country

The Panthers boy's cross country team had yet another exceptional season. The team won the South Shore principal's meet, which hadn't been done in ten years. In the State Class Division II meet, the panthers were runners up. With a strong season by all, the team made it to the states and placed seventh. The panthers six seniors will be missed, but next year is hopeful with strong sophomores and juniors returning.

The girl's cross country team also had a great season with a record of 7-2 overall. Stacy Georgilas had a great senior year, placing second at the South Shore Principal's meet. Karen Wagner was the only one to qualify for the States, in which she placed 56. The five seniors are congratulated on great careers at Whitman-Hanson, and are wished the best of luck.

With the graduation of a strong senior squad and losses for the first two games, many thought that this season would be a rebuilding year for the panthers. Fortunately, nobody told this to the team. Using every bit of talent, skill and experience they could muster, the team pulled out eight wins and only three losses, the Atlantic Coast League championship, and qualification for the playoffs. Even though they lost to Foxboro in the first round, the team was happy enough to be there, especially after the frustrating end of last year's season.

Football Cheerleading

The Varsity Football Cheerleaders had an outstanding season this year. They placed 2nd in the Plymouth competition. This year these young women showed great athletic ability compared to the years before. Each varsity cheerleader is a "secret pal" to a senior football player. They decorate the lockeroom before each game and baked goodies for each senior boy. Also, the night before the game the cheerleaders set out on their missions.

Shooting For The Stars

Girls Basketball

This year's girls' basketball team had an excellent season. The team functioned as a whole. Together Breda Flynn and co-captain Sue Cole led the team with rebounds, with help from Katty Buckley. Michelle Osborne, Julie Baglole, Renee Weatherby, and Jill Hennelly showed their point guard talent by controlling the floor. Martha and Marsha Ryan, Erin Hurley, and Arlene Wright had great shooting ability and range as the wings. The forwards Heather Raftery and Coleen Buckley did their jobs of boxing out, protecting the hoop, and getting the rebounds. Laura Bates had a great year leading in steals until she was unable to play the rest of the season due to injury, along with Nicole Ortega. Everyone had a great season.

On The Inside Track

Track — Boys Indoor Track & Girls

The Panthers had an outstanding return to the Winter Track program this year. They finished the season with a second place standing in their division. The only loss was to a powerful and experienced Randolpf team in one of the closest meets of the season. The team had a strong relay team consisting of Greg Walker, Matt Engstrom, and Russ Richardi. The Panthers, finished the season strong, and next year looks promising for the team.

The girls' 1992 track team had a building season with a record of 0-5. Despite the losing record several girls qualified for the State Class B Meet including Denise Gould who finished 8th in the hurdles. Other participants in the meet were: Sara Murray, Julie Greenlaw, Jennifer Larsen, and Lisa Jarrett. The team looks forward to an improved team next year as are young runners' mature.

Wrestling

The Panthers completed a 20-2 dual meet record despite having some serious injuries to key wrestlers. Co-captain Marshall Higgins suffered an injury, but still finished with an exceptionally well season. The team had a great deal of depth, and even with all the injuries to the starting wrestlers, the backups stepped up and filled their duties. The team could not have had as much success if it weren't for Coach Gay and Coach Armstrong. Coach Armstrong taught the team a lot and got along well with the whole team. Coach Gay's time and dedication was one major reason why this year's team possessed the most wins in a single season (20) and won its first Atlantic Coast League title. Because of last year's record of 1-17-2, Coach Corliss wanted to make the Panthers better prepared for the hockey season. At the start of the season the Panther hockey team was filled with good talent, but inexperience. With Bob Corliss in his first year as head coach, only four senior and two junior starters, and the rest of the team was a mixture of underclassmen.

The Panthers started the season off on a positive note beating Duxbury in the jamboree. The season continued and the Panther team looked strong, but didn't have the record to show it, midway through the schedule. The Panthers showed they had skills to play, but the wins never bounced their way. Because of this the Panthers failed to qualify for the state tournament.

Boys & Girls Tennis

This year's Boys and Girls Tennis teams were off to rocky starts. Both teams had many inexperienced and non-returning players. As the year went on, improvement was seen by all players. The season was filled with many heartbreaking, close matches and the teams' records didn't reflect their talents.

Although the weather this season was colder and rainier, the teams were able to get out on the courts and practice. In all, the teams enjoyed themselves. Due to the fact that the teams were too small, and busses were not affordable, the rides in the vans were especially fun. Everyone also looked forward to stopping at McDonald's on the way home from the matches.

On Their Way Home

Girls Softball

This spring the Panther's Softball team fought its way through a seemingly endless season, finishing with a winning record. Under the leadership of Marsha Ryan, Martha Ryan, and Tracey Ullathorne, the team overcame their fifth inning curse.

The team also enjoyed a series of exciting bus ride, especially the one to Middleboro with the bus driver who took the ROUND ABOUT way. The annual wrestling matches at the Scituate field, and Cleary wrestling were held. All in all, through the ups & downs the team remained close and the friendships made this season will last forever.

Aiming High For Success

Boys Baseball

The Whitman-Hanson baseball team began the 1992 campaign facing many questions. Early in the season the Panther's pitching staff supplied some of the answers to get the team off to a good start. Rory Burrows, Rob Quirk, and Andy Stafford were to show that the pitching would be able to carry the ball club.

When the season reached its peak, the Panthers realized that they couldn't rely only on their pitching. The bats broke out of their slump and provided the offense the team needed. The season came to an end before the Panthers could reach their full potential. Next year the pitching and hitting should land them a tournament bid.

Senior Prom

The Lantana in Braintree was the setting for the Senior Prom. The night was filled with much anticipation and excitement as people had been looking forward to the big event for quite awhile. It will be a night we will always remember.

Below: Kerri Pearson and Nikki Toomey pose for a snapshot.

Below: Paula Chambers sits this one out.

Graduation Day

Due to unpredictable skies, graduation was held indoors in the gymnasium. Despite the warmth and the overcrowdedness, the ceremony was quite special. For those who cold not fit in the gym, the live video of the event was being broadcast in the auditorium.

Above: Mrs. Anderson gives a memorable speech as the '92 Teacher of the Year.

Below: Shannon Cadres and Coleen Buckley give a beautiful bilingual speech in memory of Mrs. Lucier.

Below: Mike Healey is awarded for his 12 years of perfect attendance!

Below: Stacie and Jeanette search among the many for their diplomas.

Below: Derek Neilson makes great use of his diploma as a fan after graduation.
